CASINO ROYALE

(Draw Poker)

We know you've been waiting for this great game ever since its forthcoming release was announced - almost three years ago! We're pleased to say that we're now able to see your many requests and raise your expectations of fun to new heights. When Casino Royale comes out from under the tree, you'll have a full house of Las Vegas excitement. You can bet on it!

Two human card sharks and the dealer can compete in a high-stakes game of draw poker. Or, a human player and a computer robot player can play against the house. If no humans are available for actual playing, they can watch the computer play all three hands!

Each player automatically antes $5.00. The betting pot with its $15.00 is displayed at the center of the "table."

The dealer's cards and the computer robot's cards are face down. The player's cards are face up when it's the player's turn to bet. But don't worry, everything's on the up and up. Computer robots players do not look at your hand, and the computerized house dealer deals honestly.

New bets are placed until all players fold or pass. The cards are then uncovered and the betting pot is transferred to the winning hand's bankroll. How sweet it is!

Step on up to the table and deal yourself into a fast-action game of Draw Poker. The stakes are high. You've got a bankroll of a thousand bucks to play with. Are you enough of a card shark to call the dealer's bluff? Be careful, or before you know it you'll have blown your whole grand.

The number of cards drawn by the computer robot players automatically flash on the screen.

A flashing indicator is sequentially positioned on each face up card in the human player's hand. It's up to you to decide if you want to keep or throw away each flashing card.

Each player's "the bet to you is" area is set to zero. The betting begins with the player to the dealer's left (right hand of the TV screen).

Computer robot players bet, call, or fold after a moment of hesitation. Human players bet, call, or fold by using their handcontrollers.

After the betting round is completed, each remaining player draws up to three cards.

You're playing with the pros. The computer robot players will bluff, go for one card straights and flushes, and keep kickers.

ALIEN INVASION

Now, for the first time ever, Channel F owners can play this brand new version of the greatest, the most popular, of all the arcade games. Right at home. So all those quarters now can go into the piggybank instead of into the arcade machines. Better have the kids open this present last! Because once the gift wrapping comes off, this game's going to go on!

The pressure of safeguarding mankind's future getting to you? Relax. At the press of a button on your console you can activate the Pause Feature. Now you're free to make another kind of raid...on the refrigerator! You even have time to pay a visit to your analyst to clear your mind before resuming battle.

Score points for each alien you destroy. Point values depend upon the ferocity of the alien you do in. Be the lucky marksman to wipe out the very last threatening alien and score a whopping 500 points!

Players are positioned behind blast-proof trenches on the earth.

With 10 game variations you can test your strategic ability by varying the difficulty of the game: Double your own arsenal capabilities by choosing Double Player Missiles game variations. Or push yourself to the limits by playing the Quadruple Alien Missiles variations in which the invaders have an artillery advantage of 4 to 1.

Okay, here goes. It's up to you to defend the earth against an army of alien invaders. The aliens relentlessly descend toward earth firing their missile salvos in an attempt to destroy you. Quick! Get your missiles in hand and ready...aim...fire! It's a case of do or die.

The Sound Control lets you hear the aliens as they descend to earth or play in silence, whichever you choose (on both Channel F systems).

Right player's score gleams in bright green.

Keep a lookout for the Orbiting Mothership Control Station which will move across the sky from time to time. It's worth 250 big points to the player who shoots it down.

You can play solo, or 2 players can join forces (either simultaneously or alternating turns) to defend our planet

Your three protective barriers cannot be directly penetrated by alien missiles. But watch out, because their bombs can destroy your barricades bit by bit. And if you don't shoot the aliens before they reach your protective barrier, you can kiss your protection goodbye as your barriers totally disintegrate before your eyes.
